Attendance

- National attendance targets differ for individual schools but raising to above 94% is a key measure
- Attendance below that point starts to have a measurable impact on outcomes and academic achievement
- 90% attendance means roughly 100 lessons a year missed

Attendance: How to support

- Key trends and challenges that we have seen over the last couple of years
- Morning routines: Eating breakfast and leaving enough time in the morning for this
- Healthy screen time habits. Increase nationally and locally of young people missing out on sleep due to their screen time.

Mrs Bradley – Deputy Headteacher

Curriculum changes

PSHCE: PSHCE lessons are built into Year 7 timetables in lieu of drop down Personal Development days.
This enables all children to receive a statutory education in accordance with the national guidance for Relationships and Sex Education and Health.

Reading: Children in Year 7 have reading lessons as part of the timetable where they carry out a reading programme using Bedrock learning which is tailored to the individual child.
This is in addition to weekly reading sessions which take place during tutor time.

The school is fully committed to improving reading standards for all children.
